Thiessen's REGENCY ACRES

Cattle Producers,

Welcome to our 63rd year of offering bulls from Regency Acres. Thank you for taking the time to review this catalog. Wow what a year it has been. The weather has been absolutely beautiful for calving so far. Normally I would be getting concerned with the open mild winter but with the overly abundant fall rains, we are looking at an awesome start to the grass year. Here we are in the first part of March and the cows are already chasing a little green in the pasture.

Our mission is to raise as labor free and forage efficient of a cow as possible and for that cow to be a predictable breeder. We breed for smart sound cattle that can travel, cattle with length, volume and that extra rib, cattle that are easy fleshing, and cattle with longevity and are nice to be around. We want cows with good udders that take care of their calves, vigorous calves that get up quickly and get to suckling. We breed for cattle that are beefy, long, deep, and perform under a wide array of conditions. All of those things we select for and are things that are passed on though genetics. The genetics that are introduced into our herd are done so with much research and contemplation. Some have been good decisions, some out of necessity, and some have been not so good. We score our cattle on many little things that can make a big difference. With that said, one can look through the cattle and appreciate the depth and uniformity of the cattle and the progress that has been made. The bulls have been developed on a high roughage ration designed for a 2.75 lb/day. This allows the bulls to develop and grow at their own pace without causing structural damage. They will be carcass ultrasounded and fertility tested prior to the sale. They have been given two rounds of foot rot and pinkeye vaccine.

The heifers are straight out of our registered replacements. The bottom end and anything that we wouldn't feel would make a good cow is sorted off. They are developed on silage and chopped hay and run in a large pasture where they can get plenty of exercise. They will have all their yearling shots, Bangs vaccinated, freeze branded and will be ready to go to work for you.

Your welcome to come view the bulls any time before the sale at the ranch. Videos of the bulls are posted on Youtube and can be found through our website, regencyacres.com.

We look forward to seeing you on Friday April 10th.

Our Mission

Helpful Hints for Care of Herdbulls ...

Having herd bulls adapt to the environment they will be in is very important to the success of a breeding program. Whenever possible, the bulls should be fed the same type of forage they will eat in the breeding pasture for a minimum of two weeks before turnout. Their rumen operates with little bugs to break down the diet and different forages each have their own little bugs. About two weeks is the time required for the rumen to adjust to a different diet. When a bull is turned out, he isn't thinking much about eating, so any advantage that you can give him will be beneficial to younger bulls.

Another trick for having a virgin bull ready is what we call "Jump-starting." If you have a cow or a heifer around that is cycling, put the bull with her. If he seems disinterested, put another bull in with the cow for him to observe. This should trigger his brain. When the bull appears interested, let him in and remove the other bull. Make sure a bigger bull doesn't start whipping on him, or that could defeat what you are trying to accomplish. It is rare that this procedure is necessary, but it is good insurance and, once the bull gets a taste of what his job is, he will be ready for those heifers.

When breeding season is finished, a reconditioning program for yearling bulls is good as they change their teeth at 18 to 24 months of age.

Trapper is a real world, get it done in your work clothes type of bull. Very reminiscent of the Really Windy 1205 cattle from years back. They are long made and eye appealing. The females should be his strong suit and are looking forward to what the daughters do.

770 was retained from our 2017 calf crop to not only carry on the Resource line but also to expand the influence of his dam. 770 may be the longest bull we have ever produced. He is extremely mild mannered and an aggressive breeder. This is his first calf crop and they are quite impressive.

Lot 1 is a very unique individual and perhaps one of the most complete bulls we have raised. When you first walk into the pen, he immediately captures your eye and attention. Weaning off of a first-calf heifer with an actual weaning weight of 740 pounds, he then excelled in the feedlot with a gain ratio of 123 to finish off test over 1200 pounds. 911 is a free-moving, smooth-made individual with a wide top and a thick quarter. He has that herd bull look and attitude to him. His dam is a moderate, beautiful-uddered, angular cow that stems from the great Wendy cow family.

WOAH BOY! Look at this bull! 980 has been head and shoulders ahead of the pack since he was born. Granted he had a bit of a head start, but he hasn't looked back. He is the heaviest weaning and yearling bull in the sale. Not sure where the birth weight came from as the Z5 cow's other bull calves have ranged from 80 to 87 pounds. Take this boy and breed some cows to him!

American Angus Association Selection Tools

Expected Progeny Difference (EPD), is the prediction of how future progeny of each animal are expected to perform relative to the progeny of other animals listed in the database. EPDs are expressed in units of measure for the trait, plus or minus. Interim EPDs may appear on young animals when their performance has yet to be incorporated into the American Angus Association National Cattle Evaluation (NCE) procedures. This EPD will be preceded by an "I", and may or may not include the animal's own performance record for a particular trait, depending on its availability, appropriate contemporary grouping, or data edits needed for NCE.

Accuracy (ACC), is the reliability that can be placed on the EPD. An accuracy of close to 1.0 indicates higher reliability. Accuracy is impacted by the number of progeny and ancestral records included in the analysis.

Calving Ease Direct (CED), is expressed as a difference in percentage of unassisted births, with a higher value indicating greater calving ease in first-calf heifers. It predicts the average difference in ease with which a sire's calves will be born when he is bred to first-calf heifers.

Birth Weight (BW), expressed in pounds, is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit birth weight to his progeny compared to that of other sires.

Weaning Weight (WW), expressed in pounds, is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit weaning growth to his progeny compared to that of other sires.

Residual Average Daily Gain (RADG), feed efficiency expressed in pounds per day, is a predictor of a sire's genetic ability for postweaning gain in future progeny compared to that of other sires, given a constant amount of feed consumed.

Yearling Weight (YW), expressed in pounds, is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit yearling growth to his progeny compared to that of other sires.

Yearling Height (YH), is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit yearling height, expressed in inches, compared to the that of other sires.

Scrotal Circumference (SC), expressed in centimeters, is a predictor of the difference in transmitting ability for scrotal size compared to that of other sires.

Docility (DOC), is expressed as a difference in yearling cattle temperament, with a higher value indicating more favorable docility in a sire's offspring compared to another sire.

MATERNAL

Heifer Pregnancy (HP), is a selection tool to increase the probability or chance of a sire's daughters becoming pregnant as first-calf heifers during a normal breeding season. A higher EPD is the more favorable direction, and the EPD is reported in percentage units.

Calving Ease Maternal (CEM), is expressed as a difference in percentage of unassisted births, with a higher value indicating greater calving ease in first-calf daughters. It predicts the average ease with which a sire's daughters will calve as first-calf heifers when compared to daughters of other sires.

Maternal Milk (Milk), is a predictor of a sire's genetic merit for milk and mothering ability in his daughters compared to daughters of other sires. In other words, it is that part of a calf's weaning weight attributed to milk and mothering ability.

Mature Weight (MW), expressed in pounds, is a predictor of the difference in mature weight of daughters of a sire compared to the daughters of other sires.

Mature Height (MH), expressed in inches, is a predictor of the difference in mature height of a sire's daughters compared to daughters of other sires.

FOOT SCORE

Claw Set (Claw), is expressed in units of claw-set score. A lower EPD is more favorable, indicating a sire will produce progeny with more ideal claw set, which is toes that are symmetrical, even and appropriately spaced.

Foot Angle (Angle), is expressed in units of foot-angle score. A lower EPD is more favorable, indicating a sire will produce progeny with more ideal foot angle, which is a 45-degree angle at the pastern joint with appropriate toe length and heel depth.

CARCASS

The genetic evaluation produces a single set of EPDs for carcass traits where the units of measure are in trait format and analyzed on an age-constant basis.

Carcass Weight (CW), expressed in pounds, is a predictor of the differences in hot carcass weight of a sire's progeny compared to progeny of other sires.

Marbling (Marb), is expressed as a fraction of the difference in USDA marbling score of a sire's progeny compared to progeny of other sires.

Ribeye Area (RE), expressed in square inches, is a predictor of the difference in ribeye area of a sire's progeny compared to progeny of other sires.

Fat Thickness (Fat), expressed in inches, is a predictor of the differences in external fat thickness at the 12th rib (as measured between the 12th and 13th ribs) of a sire's progeny compared to progeny of other sires.

$VALUE INDEXES

$Value Indexes, reported in dollars per head, are multi-trait selection indexes where a higher value suggests more profit. The $Value is an estimate of how future progeny of each sire are expected to perform, on average, compared to progeny of other sires if sires were randomly mated to cows and if calves were exposed to the same environment.

Maternal Weaned Calf Value ($M), expressed in dollars per head, predicts profitability differences in progeny due to genetics from conception to weaning. Increased selection pressure on $M aims to decrease overall mature cow size and improve foot structure and fertility while maintaining weaning weights consistent with today's production.

Weaned Calf Value ($W), expressed in dollars per head, provides the expected difference in future progeny preweaning performance from birth to weaning. Increased selection pressure on $W increases weaning and maternal milk traits while increasing mature cow size.

Cow Energy Value ($EN), expressed in dollars savings per cow per year, assesses differences in cow energy requirements as an expected dollar savings difference in daughters of sires. A larger value is more favorable when comparing two animals. Components for computing $EN savings difference include lactation energy requirements and energy costs associated with differences in mature cow size.

Feedlot Value ($F), expressed in dollars per head, is the expected average difference in future progeny performance for postweaning merit compared to progeny of other sires. The underlying objective assumes commercial producers will retain ownership of cattle through the feedlot phase and sell fed cattle on a carcass weight basis with no considerations of premiums or discounts for quality and yield grade.

Grid Value ($G), expressed in dollars per carcass, is the expected average difference in future progeny performance for carcass grid merit, including quality and yield grade attributes, compared to progeny of other sires.

Beef Value ($B), expressed in dollars per carcass, represents the expected average differences in the progeny postweaning performance and carcass value compared to progeny of other sires. This index assumes commercial producers wean all male and female progeny, retain ownership of these animals through the feedlot phase, and market these animals on a quality-based carcass grid.
