Melvin Armstrong
Celebrating his 80th birthday

Hello everyone and thank you for looking through our catalog and reading my thoughts for the year. For me it's been both a trying and blessed year as I once again was given a lesson on just who is in charge here. It has been a depressing year with my minor stroke, heart failure, and irregular heartbeat as I struggled with the limitations of what I could do. It has also been a very blessed year with the best crops we've ever had and the pride of seeing our kids mature and cover for what I couldn't do.

This years life has given me time to contemplate and reflect on our cow herd and our responsibility of providing "the best seedstock" that we can. Our philosophy has always been to breed the most "efficient" cattle possible. When I say "efficient" I am talking about profit as well as feed efficiency. "Efficient" cattle provide you with the most profit after expenses, not just the biggest calves or the ones that eat the least. "Efficient" cattle need to be fertile, bulls need to get the cows bred and last for several years. Cows need to breed every year and they need to stay sound to stay in the herd, (no bad feet or poor structure).

I feel EPD's are an important tool, but I feel we as an industry put to much emphasis on them. I feel we are single trait selecting for EPD's. I also feel that within each area and feed (mineral composition) some cattle will perform better in each different environment (exp/one animal may perform better in Montana than in Nebraska and another just the opposite). My customers need what performs better ("efficiency") here and not somewhere else even if their EPD's are better. They might perform better in all areas but here, but that isn't as profitable to my customer or myself.

With this being said, I am going to start making some changes in my catalog and breeding program. I am making a star/point system for each bull and each trait including: calving ease/birth weight, weaning weight, frame size, fleshing ability, temperament, fertility/libido, structure/feet soundness, carcass quality, daughters milk production and daughters mothering/udder structure. This is my opinion on the bulls expected performance on these traits. This year this information will be on a supplement sheet available sale day.

I am also going to keep a 1/3 interest in-herd semen use on all bulls selling so I can collect and use semen on any bull I may want to use in the future. I am going to use some yearling bulls each year and sell them as 2 year olds and use semen on some "efficient" bulls from past sales to hopefully make more progress in these " efficient" traits (especially fertility/libido and structure/feet soundness). I would appreciate your feedback on the bulls you buy or may have bought as they mature into older bulls that you feel may stand out as "efficient" bulls. I also would love to visit with any of you on these thoughts.

Thank you again for your interest in what we are doing in our breeding program and your past input and friendship. Please call if you have any questions or if you wish to come look at the cattle before the sale.

An easy calving bull we used to improve feed efficiency. The daughters have nice udders with small teats. His offspring tend to have more fleshing ability and less frame than most upward cattle.

Very easy calving and fleshing, low maintenance bull. His calves come easy and get up quick. His daughters have been quiet, small framed, easy keeping cows that seem to breed up well and stay.

We raised this bull and used him for cleanup. He is a larger framed bull in our herd but seems to have really good feed efficiency.

We are very pleased with the first offspring of this Capitalist son from the Midland Bull test. He is proving to be a light birthweight bull with powerful growth in a small thick package. Possibly the quietest cattle we have ever been around.

K'S DOTS

Ink art

This artwork is created by me, Kyra Armstrong, a cowgirl that was born and raised on a working Ranch in Western Montana. I love my cows and riding up in the mountains . I also enjoy helping in any way that I can, but I'm not much of a mechanic.

I like taking pictures of my life on the ranch and then turning them into art. My art is all done with a fine point sharpie marker. By using little dots I create a picture on bones that I dug out of the back pasture. After I'm done with my bones, I spray them with a Mod Podge finish to help protect them and then add a leather strap to use for hanging the bones up. They are now ready for you to decorate your house or cabin, or maybe as a gift for someone else!

You, O Lord, keep my lamp burning; my God turns my darkness into light. With your help I can advance against a troop; with my God I can scale a wall. Psalm 18:28-29
